TOP JESTER REVIEWS

2004 Jester Shiraz

“Yep, it’s a 2005 red ready for drinking now. It will improve in the cellar too, but if you like your reds vibrant and packed with plenty of juicy fruit flavours, then drink the Jester now. This is delicious drinking with ripe berry flavours, a hint of vanillin and marzipan oak with fine persistent tannins. You could not fail to impress the guests at your next dinner party with this wine; it is just packed with flavour.”

2005 Jester Cabernet Sauvignon

“Frank Mitolo’s wines are always richly appointed, plush and unbelievably glossy. This is a wine for nightstalkers and vampires such is its sumptuous, sanguine appeal and unctuous viscosity. It is hard to believe this is youthful McLaren Vale Shiraz rather than the sort of elixir that Kate Beckinsale carries around her porcelain neck.”

Matthew Jukes, October 2006

A superb effort, it boasts a deep ruby/purple color and loads of blueberry and cassis fruit as well as hints of roasted meat and spice box. Medium to full-bodied with good acidity, ripe tannin, and beautiful texture and length, this stunning Cabernet may be one of the world’s best values in Cabernet Sauvignon!

“Chocolate-coated plums, slightly tomato-leafy, then a big, rich, soft but deep palate, rich, ripe, plush flavour and supple tannins. A cuddly, warm-area red.”

2006 Jester Rosé

89 points

“The knock-out 2006 Sangiovese Rosé exhibits an atypically dark color for a Rosé as well as crisp, elegant, gamy sweet cherry and currant flavours intermixed with hints of saddle leather and earth. This bone dry medium bodied, well-made effort reflects the Italian heritage of proprietors Frank and Simone Mitolo combined with the sure hand of their classic Australian winemaker, Ben Glaetzer.”

The Wine Advocate, Robert Parker 2006

“This spring and summer is going to see the arrival of rosé in all shapes and sizes on our tables in a big way. The Jester Rosé could well turn up on yours and, if it does, you will be in for a treat. It is really powerfully flavoured with intense cherry fruit flavours and mouthfilling texture but, surprisingly, it finishes clean and dry. This is definitely a wine for food and could handle a barbecue with ease.”

The Canberra Times Fergus McGhie, September 2006

4 Stars - 91 Points

“Rosewater, Turkish delight aromas; a serious style of slightly fuller weighted rosé, with loads of rich fruit and a lick of tannin to close. Lovely balance and clean finish: a real mouthful.”
